In the north-west corner of Borneo, lies the Sultanate of Brunei Darussalam and the capital, Bandar Seri Begawan. About 70% of Brunei's land area is covered by unspoilt rainforest, home to many varieties of flora and fauna endemic only to the island of Borneo. A great portion of the country's dense rainforest is situated in and around the Temburong district.

Brunei's population is mainly composed of Malays with a mixture of Chinese and Indian communities. Brunei enjoys warm, equatorial climate year round with very minor seasonal variations but high levels of rainfall and humidity.

Top 5 Experiences

1. Ulu Temburong National Park
2. Kampong Ayer - the world's largest and oldest water village
3. Stay at the Empire Hotel
4. Spot Proboscis Monkeys
5. Visit the Royal Regalia Museum

Did You Know?

- Brunei is the second smallest nation in South East Asia after Singapore.
- Brunei was discovered by Awang Alak Betatar, who travelled from Garang to the Brunei River. 'Baru nah!' uttered out of his mouth that led to the discovery of word Brunei.
